The Honorable William H. Webster
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Webster:

I am writing to ask your assistance in identifying outstanding candidates for a Distinguished Fellow award from the United States Institute of Peace. As you may know, the Institute is an independent, nonpartisan government institution created and wholly funded by Congress to strengthen the nation's capacity to promote the peaceful resolution of international conflict. We fulfill our Congressional mandate by expanding knowledge about the nature of international peace; disseminating this knowledge to individuals involved in peacemaking; and promoting public education programs.

One of the five programs of the Institute is the Jennings Randolph Program for International Peace. Under this program, the Institute awards three types of fellowships, one category of which is the Distinguished Fellow award. Recipients of this award are eminent scholars, statesmen, and other practitioners who have attained national or international stature because of widely recognized accomplishments in international peace and conflict management.

Our purpose is to challenge highly talented people to draw on their learning and experience to produce unique, potentially influential contributions to a better understanding of international peace and conflict issues. I have enclosed a list of Distinguished Fellows and other fellowship recipients the Institute has selected since the Program was launched in 1987.

To be considered for possible selection, Distinguished Fellow candidates must be nominated on the Institute's form by someone well acquainted with the nominee's career and achievements. The Institute expects to appoint two or three Distinguished Fellows for 1989-90.

ILLEGIB

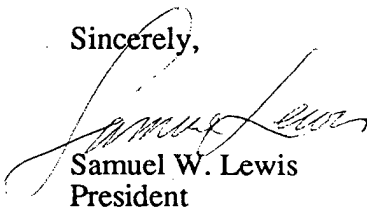

An independent institution established by Congress to strengthen the nation's capacity to promote peaceful resolution of international conflicts.

I would urge you to review the enclosed program description and consider using the enclosed form to nominate a person you know who might qualify for one of the Distinguished Fellow awards. If you would like to nominate more than one candidate, feel free to duplicate the enclosed nomination form. Please note that the deadline for nominations is February 1, 1989.

Sincerely,

Samuel W. Lewis
President
